Germer PLLC attorneys have extensive experience representing clients in a diverse array of administrative proceedings pending before state and federal agencies with rulemaking, licensing, regulatory, disciplinary, and enforcement authority, as well as in handling appeals of administrative decisions. Among those administrative proceedings in which the firm's attorneys regularly represent clients such as the following:

- Automobile manufacturers in proceedings before the Texas Department of Transportation;
- Physicians before the Texas Medical Board;
- Workers' compensation insurance carriers in judicial review proceedings;
- Businesses before state and environmental agencies;
- Insurance carriers in SOAH hearings; and
- Employers before the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the National Labor Relations Board, and the Occupational Health and Safety Administration.

With offices in Austin, as well as Houston and Beaumont, the firm is strategically positioned to respond quickly and efficiently to most all administrative needs.
