8:30 am 1.25 hrs	Recent Developments in Admiralty and Maritime Law at the National Level and in the Fifth and Eleventh Circuits  The twenty-fourth annual installment of the seminal paper surveys developments, identifies issues of genuine national importance, and discusses items of significant interest from the Fifth and Eleventh Circuits.  Matthew H. Ammerman, Law Office of Matthew H. Ammerman, P.C. - Houston, TX Michael F. Sturley, The University of Texas School of Law - Austin, TX
9:45 am	15-Minute Break
10:00 am 1.00 hr	Knowing the Ropes: Maritime Practice in a Post-Chevron World  In the wake of the Supreme Court's decision in Loper Bright Enterprises v. Raimondo and the overturning of Chevron Deference , the maritime industry is facing a sea of change. From presenting cases under the Longshore and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act ("LHWCA"), to challenging agency actions under OPA, CERCLA, and the Jones Act, to challenging Federal Maritime Commission and other agency promulgated regulations, the absence of Chevron Deference is already having a strong and lasting impact. The speakers discuss broad practice trends, individual case studies, and what the maritime industry looks like in a post- Chevron world.  Carrol P. Hand, Holland & Knight LLP - Richmond, VA David Hornbeak, Holland & Knight LLP - Houston, TX Roger Levy, Levy Mediations - Tiburon, CA
11:00 am 0.50 hr	Salty, Silent, but Not Surreptitious: Update on Maritime Liens  This presentation compares and contrasts maritime liens from a global perspective with a focus on U.S. and U.K. law liens. It addresses the practical impact of these differences in the creation, priority, and enforcement of these maritime liens in U.S. courts.  Felisa E. Sanchez, K&L Gates LLP - Houston, TX Jody M. Schisel-Meslin, K&L Gates LLP - Houston, TX

11:30 am 0.75 hr	The More Things Change... 30 Years of Judging Admiralty Cases Learn how the admiralty docket in the Southern District of Texas has changed over the last 30 years, and what that can teach us about what to expect in the next 30 years. Hon. Lee H. Rosenthal, U.S. District Court, Southern District of Texas - Houston, TX

4:05 pm 0.50 hr	Choice-of-Law Issues and Proof of Foreign Law in Collision Cases This presentation examines how courts analyze the choice of law factors of Lauritzen v. Larsen and its progeny in a vessel collision case, and the materials courts consider in determining foreign law, using as its example the litigation resulting from the collision of a United States warship in the Singapore Strait. Alan M. Weigel, Blank Rome LLP - New York, NY
4:35 pm 0.50 hr	The Potential-to-Disrupt Maritime Commerce Test for Admiralty Tort Jurisdiction A federal court exercising admiralty tort jurisdiction must find that the relevant “incident has a potentially disruptive impact on maritime commerce.” But the Supreme Court has offered little guidance on the contours of the potential-to-disrupt-maritime-commerce test, and lower-court decisions are hopelessly inconsistent. This presentation provides an overview and a critical analysis of the issue. Michael F. Sturley, The University of Texas School of Law - Austin, TX
