LUNCHEON PRESENTATION

11:50 am 0.50 hr	Keynote Presentation with Alan D Albright Lessons learned from the bench. Hon. Alan D. Albright, A&O Shearman - Austin, TX
12:20 pm	15-Minute Break
12:35 pm 0.50 hr	PTAB Judges and Analogous Art Doctrine Even as analogous art doctrine has become more prominent in opinions of the Patent and Trial Appeal Board (PTAB), several of the PTAB's administrative patent judges have deviated from Federal Circuit precedent and ongoing USPTO guidance through opinions suggesting that KSR's flexible approach to nonobviousness analysis has demoted the two-part analogous art test to a source of "helpful insight" whose satisfaction is not strictly required. This presentation discusses the PTAB opinions and how practitioners might respond before the PTAB or elsewhere. John M. Golden, The University of Texas School of Law - Austin, TX
1:05 pm 0.75 hr	Patent Fault Lines: The Shifting Ground of Patenting and Litigating in the Life Sciences Sector This presentation examines key legal developments shaping patent protection and enforcement in the life sciences sector, with a focus on evolving standards in patentability and infringement. Michael Krawzsenek, Norton Rose Fulbright US LLP - Austin, TX Gina N. Shishima, Norton Rose Fulbright US LLP - Austin, TX
1:50 pm 0.50 hr	Beyond the Prompt: Agentic AI in Patent Prosecution Most practitioners still treat AI as a chatbot, hunting for the right prompt. This presentation moves past prompting to agentic systems that carry out multi-step prosecution tasks under attorney supervision, drawn from tools I built and use in daily practice, with candid guidance on what works, what does not, and where to start. Charles W. Gray, Kilpatrick Townsend & Stockton LLP - Denver, CO

2:35 pm 0.75 hr ethics	Ethical Use of AI An exploration of the practical implications of using AI tools in legal work, including safeguarding client data, supervising and validating AI-generated outputs, and avoiding over reliance on automated systems. Drawing on recent ethics opinions, case law, and real-world examples, including sanctions arising from improper AI use, this session provides guidance on how to mitigate those risks and comply with evolving regulatory expectations. Robert Denby, Vinson & Elkins LLP - Houston, TX
3:20 pm 1.00 hr 0.50 hr ethics	Judicial Panel Gain insight from distinguished District Court Judges from across the nation regarding their experiences hearing and trying patent cases. Presiding Officer:
William D. Wiese, DuBois, Bryant & Campbell, L.L.P. - Austin, TX

8:00 am In Austin Only	Conference Room Opens Includes continental breakfast.
8:30 am 0.50 hr	Who May Sue: Patent Standing Issues and Implications for the Life Sciences Industry (Part II) for IP Strategist This discusses complex patent standing issues relevant to companies in the life sciences sector. The article examines special circumstances affecting standing, such as exclusive field of use licenses, corporate control over patent owners, and trust arrangements, and analyzes how mid-litigation transfers of patent rights can impact a party's ability to maintain suit and recover damages. It highlights Federal Circuit case law addressing these issues and underscores the importance of careful structuring of patent ownership and assignments to avoid gaps in standing that may lead to dismissal or limit damages. Matthew Chivvis, Morrison & Foerster LLP - Menlo Park, CA
	Insurance for Claims of Patent Infringement

9:00 am 0.50 hr	Learn which lines of insurance cover patent infringement claims and how those claims are covered (and paid). Kimberly K. Cauthorn, Willis Towers Watson - Austin, TX
9:30 am 0.50 hr	Recent Developments in Prosecution Practice at the USPTO The mechanics and substance of prosecution at the USPTO have been and continue to be impacted by the after effects of DOGE, by the morale of the Examiner Corps, by the implementation of AI tools, by changing rules and guidance, and by the input of the new Director. While the bar associations are working with USPTO leadership to understand and mitigate or improve some of the worst results, we are pragmatically adapting to the reality on the ground. Let's talk expectations and options to best assist our clients. Michael W. Piper, Conley Rose, PC - Plano, TX
10:00 am	15-Minute Break
10:15 am 0.50 hr	PTAB and CRU Post-Grant Challenges: How Things Have Changed in the Last Two Years There have been whirlwind of changes in IPR, PGR, and ex parte reexamination practice since early 2025.
