

Building Transmission in a Post-CREZ World

Bill Bojorquez
January 31, 2017
Austin, Texas

Respect for the Individual · Humility · Innovation · Excellence · Teamwork · Integrity

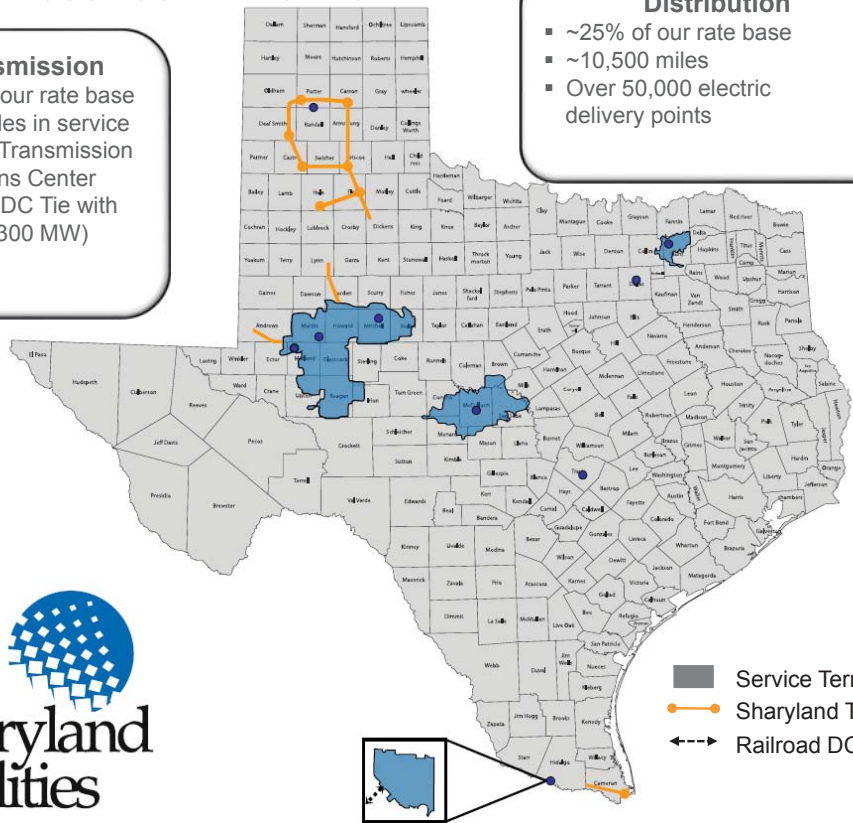

About Sharyland Utilities

- Texas-based public electric utility operating in the Electric Reliability Council of Texas (ERCOT)
- Transmission and Distribution Service Provider regulated by the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUCT)
- Committed to providing quality customer service, affordable rates, safe and reliability electric delivery, and increased investment
- Reputation as an agile and innovative utility
- Serves ~50,000 customers in 29 counties throughout Texas
- Privately-owned by Hunter L. Hunt and other members of the family of Ray L. Hunt; managed by Hunter L. Hunt

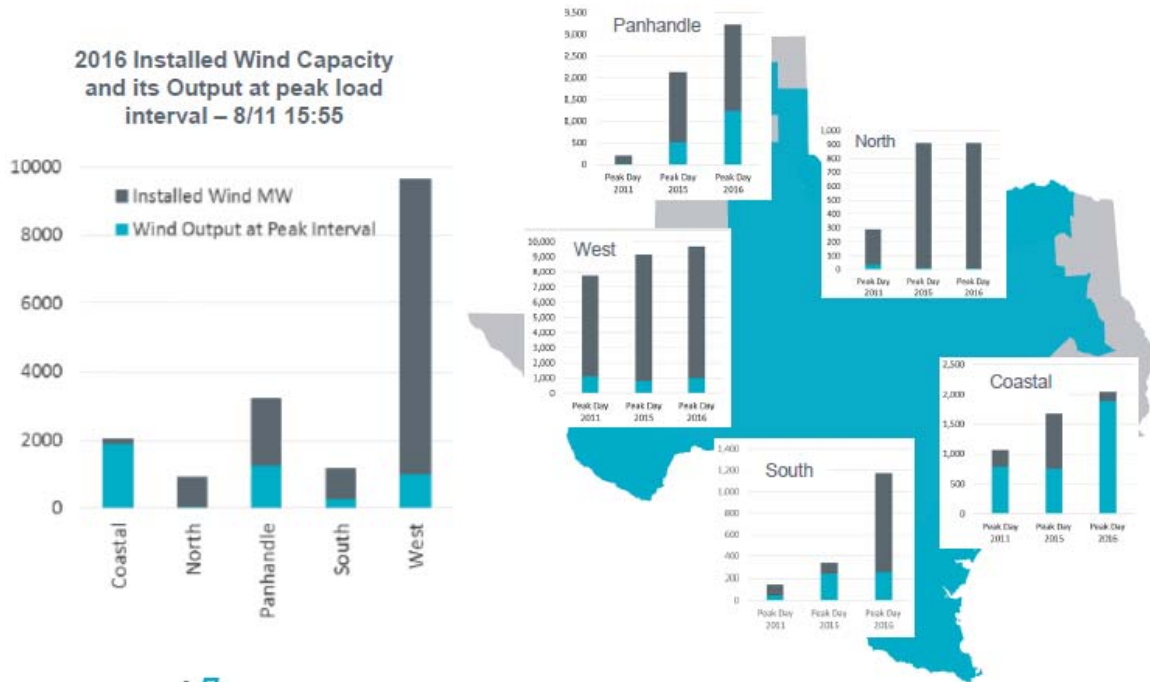

Our Presence in Texas

- Transmission
- ~75% of our rate base
 - ~ 720 miles in service
 - Amarillo Transmission Operations Center
 - Railroad DC Tie with Mexico (300 MW)

- Distribution
- ~25% of our rate base
 - ~10,500 miles
 - Over 50,000 electric delivery points

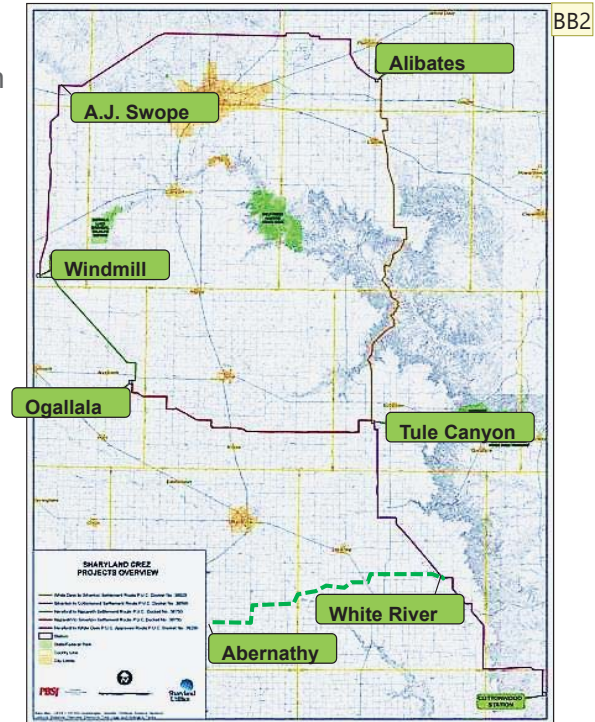

Wind Production Across Texas at the Time of the Peak

4 Source: ERCOT

Competitive Renewable Energy Zone (CREZ) Update

- Original Sharyland CREZ Designation
 - ~300 miles of facilities in Texas Panhandle and South Plains, consisting of:
 - Five 345kV transmission lines
 - Four collection stations
 - Completed in 2013
- A.J. Swope Station added in 2014
- White River and Abernathy Stations added in 2016
- PUCT approved CCN for second circuit around Amarillo under CREZ Order (PURA §39.904(g))
 - Under construction
 - To be completed Q2, 2018

5

Respect for the Individual · Humility · Innovation · Excellence · Teamwork · Integrity

Slide 5

BB2

Bill Bojorquez, 12/22/2015

Find the full text of this and thousands of other resources from leading experts in dozens of legal practice areas in the UT Law CLE eLibrary \(utcle.org/elibrary\)

Title search: Building Transmission in a Post-CREZ World

Also available as part of the eCourse

2017 Renewable Energy Law eConference

First appeared as part of the conference materials for the 2017 Renewable Energy Law session

"Building Transmission for Texas Renewable Energy in a Post-CREZ World"