Widely used—likely to be the platform for your remote mediation

Great features for mediation

February 2020:

“Do you think that you’ll do videoconference mediations in your practice?”

Reasons for my response in February:

- confidentiality concerns
- loss of interpersonal interactions/nonverbal communication?
- lack of investment in the process?
- would participants devote the same attention and focus on only resolving the dispute?
- fear of the unknown/not the way we’ve always done it
- no urgency to adopt a new platform

When is remote mediation used?

Before COVID-19

- High conflict/high emotion settings
- In-person attendance challenging (distance, sickness, disability)

Now?

- All types of disputes
- In-person mediation is not possible or ideal
  - restrictions on in-person meetings
  - cost
  - logistics
