The Unexpected Phone Call

- Jury verdict for Plaintiffs
- Plaintiffs' proposed judgment overreaches
- Defendant tenders alternative judgment
- Judge calls defense counsel to:
 - ask counsel to modify alternative judgment
 - · advise he will sign modified judgment
- Defense advises Plaintiff of Judge's call
- Plaintiff's counsel claims ex parte contact

Reactions

- > "There's nothing wrong with this, lawyers have these kinds of conversations with judges all the time."
- "There's nothing wrong with the judge's clerk calling counsel and advising them of the judge's ruling, and this is just a step removed from that."
- > "This isn't an ex parte discussion about the merits, it's just the judge advising you about his ruling."

Reactions

- "What were you supposed to do, challenge and accuse of being unethical the very judge who is mostly ruling in your client's favor?"
- "It's not your fault, the judge is the one who initiated the conversation."
- > "It didn't make any difference, the judge was going to rule the way that he ruled anyway."
