

HUSCH BLACKWELL

Covenants Not to Compete and the Proposed FTC Ban

Kevin Koronka

Partner - Husch Blackwell LLP

Austin, TX

1

Introduction

- Approximately 30 million employees are subject to noncompete agreements in the United States.
- Noncompetes also commonly used in business transactions
- FTC recently proposed a rule which would ban the use of employee noncompetes in most instances nationwide, rather than deferring to individual states on the issue.
- But don't panic (or get your hopes) up yet...

HUSCH BLACKWELL

© 2022 Husch Blackwell LLP

2

What Are Noncompete Provisions?

© 2022 Husch Blackwell LLP

3

Definition

- The United States Federal Trade Commission (“FTC”) defines a noncompete provision as a “contractual term between an employer and worker that prevents the worker from seeking or accepting employment with a person, or operating a business, after the conclusion of the workers’ employment with the employer.”

HUSCH BLACKWELL

© 2022 Husch Blackwell LLP

4

Purpose

- Prevents employees from using confidential information, trade secrets, specialized skills, or client relationships learned from an employer to benefit a competitor.
- However, noncompete agreements may not be so limited that it places an undue burden on the employee or inhibits an employee's ability to make a living (subject to state law requirements).

General Requirements for an Enforceable Non-Compete in Texas

- Reasonable Scope
- Reasonable Duration
- Reasonable Geographic or Customer/Facility-Based Restrictions
- Legitimate Business Interest
- Sufficient Consideration

Find the full text of this and thousands of other resources from leading experts in dozens of legal practice areas in the UT Law CLE eLibrary \(utcle.org/elibrary\)

Title search: Covenants Not to Compete and the Proposed FTC Ban

First appeared as part of the conference materials for the 32nd Annual LLCs, LPs and Partnerships session
"Covenants Not to Compete and the Proposed FTC Ban"